COVID-19 VACCINATION POLICY

Taking all reasonably practical measures, Elf Mushrooms aims to eliminate the risk of exposure to COVID-19 for its staff. The COVID-19 vaccines are an essential aspect of maintaining a safe environment in both the home and workplace. The vaccines help protect infected people by preventing serious health consequences. Regardless of the vaccine, a vaccinated person may still unknowingly carry and spread the virus to others around them, including workers and others in their workplace. To address this, management has implemented a number of “COVID 19 focused” measures These measures are:

- mandating COVID-19 vaccinations for all staff working in the growing rooms
- requiring workers to practice physical distancing
- requiring workers to practice good hygiene (e.g., through workplace policies and ensuring access to adequate and well stocked hygiene facilities)
- requiring workers to stay home when sick
- cleaning the workplace regularly and thoroughly.
- making sure the washroom facilities include adequate supply of soap, water and paper towel
- supplying hand sanitiser, where it is not possible for workers to wash their hands
- ensuring lunchrooms are regularly cleaned and allow for physical distancing.
- increasing cleaning and maintenance of Elf Mushrooms site
- mandating the wearing masks in the workplace.
